Brooke Willis Property

For Brooke Willis, success in property management has never just been about houses. It has always been about people.

After more than 14 years working in the real estate industry, Brooke launched Brooke Willis Property six years ago following the birth of her first child, determined to create a boutique business built on genuine relationships rather than automated service.

Today, the business manages more than 500 properties across Brisbane's inner suburbs and has grown into an award-winning agency by building community trust.

"We've always wanted to be known for our relationships and communication," Brooke said.

"We use technology where it helps, but people still want to deal with people."

Joining Brooke shortly after the business opened was her cousin, Anais Casey, who has helped shape the agency's growth over the past five and a half years.

After beginning her career in recruitment, Anais found her passion in property management, bringing strong communication skills and a focus on building trust.

Together, the pair have more than 26 years of industry experience and share a commitment to making every client feel supported from the very first conversation.

The all-female team of six also sets itself apart by keeping property portfolios well below the industry average, allowing each property manager to provide a more personalised service.

For Brooke, however, the greatest achievement is the culture they have created.

"I'm passionate about empowering women and showing them that property management can be a long term career with so many opportunities," she said.

"I'd love nothing more than to see one of my team start their own business one day."

Anais said working in an all female workplace had created an environment where everyone supports each other through the challenges of the industry.

"There's always something new to learn and we're constantly growing together."

With multiple REIQ award nominations, an expanding client base and a reputation built on trust, Brooke Willis Property continues to prove that strong businesses are built on strong relationships, both within the team and throughout the local community.

Sarah Kornel
SixtyFour Property

Vanessa Watt
SixtyFour Property

Sarah Kornel, Co-Founder of SixtyFour Property, brings a people-first approach to real estate, guided by values that define her business and her life: Bold, Loyal & Grounded.

Growing up in a large family and raising one of her own, Sarah believes in creating meaningful connections. This has shaped her approach to business, where trust, authenticity and lasting relationships always come before transactions.

Inspired by timeless business principles, Sarah believes there is no substitute for face-to-face interaction. She values the warmth and honesty of meeting in person, knowing the best outcomes are built on genuine human connection.

For Sarah, success isn't measured by the number of properties sold, but by the quality of every client's experience. Her focus on delivering exceptional experiences is shaped somewhat by her travels, finding inspiration in the service culture of less affluent regions. "There's something special about hospitality in places with fewer resources – it's heartfelt," she shares.

To Sarah, SixtyFour Property's boutique philosophy means offering a highly personalised experience for every client, backed by specialist knowledge and genuine care.

Vanessa Watt, Sales Executive at SixtyFour Property, has a human-centred approach to real estate grounded in integrity, transparency, and authenticity. These values underpin her professional practice and personal outlook, shaping how she supports clients at every stage of their property journey. For Vanessa, property is far more than a product – it is the backdrop to life's most meaningful chapters.

Homes are where memories are made, families grow, dreams take shape, and futures are planned. This belief sits at the heart of her work, where real estate is ultimately about people, trust, and guiding clients through significant life moments with confidence and clarity.

She believes every home carries its own unique story and deserves bespoke care and attention. This philosophy aligns closely with SixtyFour Property's boutique ethos, where quality over quantity, personalised service, and genuine relationships define the client experience.

Grounded and naturally people-focused, Vanessa is proud to be part of a team that places connection at the centre of everything it does – ensuring every client journey is handled with care, respect, and authenticity.

Lisa Carter Clear Insurance

Local multi-award-winning business owner Lisa Carter empowers local businesses to navigate their risk and insurance needs with confidence.

With 30 years of experience, she has a deep understanding of the corporate insurance landscape as CEO and Managing Director of Clear Insurance, and the benefits of effective risk and insurance management.

Lisa states, "Local businesses are the heartbeat of our communities. However, they face unique challenges, particularly in managing their risks and insurance needs."

By gaining a strong understanding, business owners can make informed decisions about which risks they will retain, mitigate, or transfer to insurance.

"We often emphasise that insurance is a risk transfer tool to protect your business from the financial losses your business cannot support," she adds.

"With the right guidance and professional advice, owners can safeguard their interests now and into the future."

It is an exciting time to be a business owner – there are opportunities within a softening insurance market for savvy entrepreneurs to review their risk and insurance programs.

"I encourage you to consult your insurance adviser at least two months before your renewal date," she says.

Clear Insurance is proudly based in the heart of Ascot, on Racecourse Road.

"As Hamilton residents, we take pride in sourcing locally and value our connections with other businesses and community organisations in the area. It's wonderful to see the local area continue to thrive."

Dr Ana Drach Biological Psychiatry Clinic

Dr Ana Drach's approach to Psychiatry is shaped by a unique professional journey that began in Psychology, before she pursued Medicine and specialist training in Psychiatry.

After working as a Clinical Psychologist overseas, Dr Ana completed her Psychiatry fellowship at two psychiatric centres of excellence in Melbourne.

"This dual background allows me to bring an integrated perspective to mental health care, considering not only biological factors but also the psychological, interpersonal, and environmental influences that shape each person's experience," Dr Ana said.

Originally from Brazil, she offers Portuguese and Spanish-language appointments.

A member of the World Federation of Societies of Biological Psychiatry, she regularly attends international conferences which ensures her practice is up to date with the latest in psychiatric research and treatment.

"My long-standing interest in human behaviour, emotional wellbeing, and personal growth has guided my career and continues to inspire my clinical work today," Dr Ana says.

A significant focus of her work is women's mental health such as assessing cases of ADHD and Autism Spectrum Disorder and supporting women through the many transitions that occur throughout life, including pregnancy, motherhood, midlife, perimenopause and menopause.

At Biological Psychiatry Clinic in Newstead, her goal is to help individuals develop greater self-awareness, resilience and confidence, enabling them to navigate life's challenges and create a more fulfilling future.

Rebecca Ormesher Property Collective Agency

Born and raised in Brisbane, Rebecca Ormesher is proud to call the city's inner north home.

After attending school in Clayfield and completing a Bachelor of Arts, her passion for travel led her to study in Switzerland before living and working throughout Europe, the UK, Asia, North and Central America.

Fluent in Spanish and German, Rebecca developed a genuine appreciation for different cultures and the importance of building lasting relationships.

Property has always been part of Rebecca's life. Growing up around family property investments and later working in real estate overseas, she purchased her first investment property in Spain during the Global Financial Crisis which shaped the calm, strategic approach she brings to clients today.

As Principal of Property Collective Agency, Rebecca has built a reputation for guiding clients through significant property decisions with confidence & integrity.

Working across Brisbane's premium suburbs, she advises homeowners, investors, developers and international purchasers, combining strategic marketing, skilled negotiation and genuine care to deliver great outcomes.

Her thoughtful approach and attention to detail have earned the trust of clients seeking experienced representation for their most valuable assets.

Outside of work, Rebecca enjoys spending time with her husband and three children, travelling, studying Italian, yoga, attending school activities and sporting events, and supporting her local community.

She believes that exceptional real estate is built on trust, authentic relationships and putting clients' interests first.

Marie Sheehy Calvados + Woolf Lawyers

Marie Sheehy is the Principal at Calvados + Woolf Lawyers, a boutique legal firm located in Teneriffe's Florence Street, now in its 13th year of operation.

"We focus on corporate and commercial law, wills and estates, pharmacy and healthcare law, asset protection and property services," Marie says.

Calvados + Woolf Lawyers serve clients big and small.

"Our clients range from local individuals and businesses to mid-sized enterprises and high net worth clients and entrepreneurs and major agri-families."

"We have established ourselves as a cost-effective alternative to larger firms in terms of quality of clients, complexity of advice, and depth of expertise."

Marie is a member of STEP, the international Society of Trust and Estate Practitioners, and the firm has a thriving Wills and Estate practice, catering to individuals requiring simple Wills and Powers of Attorney, to complex Testamentary Trusts, asset protection and succession structures and strategies.

Calvados + Woolf is also one of the very few law firms specialising in the complex and high compliance area of pharmacy and healthcare law, acting in asset purchases, disposals, relocations, and compliance.

Marie wants to continue building a boutique practice that is highly respected locally by businesses and peers and she is determined to maintain her local connection by supporting local organisations, events, and local businesses.

Marie likes to be creative in her spare time and enjoys painting and making jewellery.

Zinta Harris Resolve Estate Law

We've all heard the horror stories — families torn apart over inheritance disputes and estates drained by costly court battles. Sadly, these stories are all too common. But Zinta Harris is on a mission to change that.

"Over the last 25 years, I have seen too many families shattered by the court process," Zinta says.

As a lawyer, mediator, and dual-accredited specialist in succession and business law, Zinta's firm Resolve Estate Law instead offers families a holistic, out-of-court approach to resolve estate disputes.

If the family agree not to litigate, a collaborative team — blending legal and financial expertise with mediation techniques — can help grieving families find respectful, early resolutions that bring closure with dignity, rather than conflict.

"At the heart of everything we do is the belief that estates should be resolved with respect and compassion," Zinta says.

Her approach has earned national recognition, including awards for innovation and excellence, positioning her as a leading succession lawyer in Queensland.

Zinta is also the author of "Rest in Peace: How to Manage an Estate Dispute Without Inheriting Heartache", a must-read for anyone facing the emotional and legal challenges of estate disputes.

Resolve Estate Law, helps clients navigate the fallout after the loss of a loved one — from simple probate and estate administration matters to complex contested estate disputes.

Chrese Morley McGrath Ascot

As McGrath Ascot celebrates their first anniversary, Principal Chrese Morley reflects on building years of community trust in residential real estate across Ascot, Clayfield, Hendra, and Hamilton.

At the core of Chrese Morley's approach is a simple yet powerful ethos: people and families are at the heart of every home.

With nearly two decades of experience, Chrese has built a reputation not just for market expertise, but for genuine care and connection to the community she serves.

Her deep roots in the area having grown up in Ascot and attended St Rita's College give her a unique insight and passion for the local market.

"Selling real estate in my core area was a natural progression for me," Chrese shares. "I'm proud to maintain a strong connection with St Rita's, where my niece now attends, and I'm honoured to speak at the school's careers day each year."

Chrese's commitment to community goes beyond property; McGrath Ascot proudly sponsors the Virginia United Football Club and the Nudgee Boys College Cricket Program.

"Fostering relationships in our local community has always been important to me," she says.

"What starts as a real estate transaction often turns into a lasting friendship."

With a career built on trust, integrity, and a deep love for her community, Chrese Morley continues to set the standard for excellence in real estate.

Jessica Valentine Salt Space Coworking

Jessica Valentine has been the owner of Salt Space Coworking since 2024, continuing the legacy of the New Farm workspace originally established in 2011. With a background in Commerce (Accounting) and a career transition into IT consulting in 2017, Jessica understands both the structure of business and the flexibility modern professionals need to thrive.

Having lived in Teneriffe since 2014, Jessica is deeply connected to Brisbane's inner east. She believes working in the same suburb you live in creates an ease and rhythm to daily life that is often underestimated. "Being able to walk to work, grab a coffee locally and see familiar faces every day makes business feel more integrated with life," she says.

Salt Space Coworking was created to offer more than just desks. It's a space where independent professionals, consultants and business owners can work productively while feeling part of a community. Jessica particularly loves seeing so many women in business working from the space and hearing about their evolving careers and ventures.

Animal-friendly and community-focused, Salt Space Coworking reflects Jessica's belief that work should support your lifestyle — not compete with it. Salt Space Coworking is also home to Jessica's dog, Vernon, who happily accepts pats from visiting members and clients.

Her vision is to grow the space thoughtfully — maintaining its local character while empowering Brisbane's inner-east professionals to build sustainable, successful businesses close to home.

Kylie Moule Clayfield Dental

Practice Manager, Co-Owner and people-focused leader Kylie Moule is helping shape Clayfield Dental into a family-owned Brisbane practice where dentistry feels warm, educational and genuinely personal.

Alongside her husband, dentist Dr Richard Moule, Kylie has helped build Clayfield Dental around quality dental care, positive patient experiences and a strong connection to the local community.

Kylie says, "For us, Clayfield Dental is about more than teeth. It is about helping people feel comfortable, informed and genuinely cared for."

With a background in business management and current studies in Human Resource Management, Kylie brings a people-focused approach to the practice, overseeing operations, patient experience, team culture, marketing and community engagement.

"I have always been interested in the human side of business – how people communicate, how teams grow, and how small businesses can create workplaces where people feel valued," she says.

Since taking ownership, Kylie has played a central role in shaping Clayfield Dental into a practice that reflects the values she and Richie share as business owners and parents – approachable, honest, and community-minded.

By combining Kylie's focus on people, communication and business operations with Richie's clinical care and experience, Clayfield Dental has the kind of environment they would want to visit themselves.

"For me, being a woman in business is about backing yourself, continuing to learn and building something meaningful," Kylie says.

Brooke Harlander Retail Collective Co

Brooke Harlander had long considered starting her own studio. Being made redundant during COVID proved to be the catalyst she needed to make that move, resulting in the creation of Retail Collective Co (RCCO), the Queensland-based interior design studio. Brooke now leads as founder and director, specialising in retail, hospitality and commercial fitouts.

Brooke completed her studies at TAFE Queensland before working as Design Manager across a number of major franchise brands, including Donut King, Michel's Patisserie, Brumby's Bakery, Crust, Pizza Capers and Gloria Jean's, as well as The Coffee Club, managing store design rollouts nationally and internationally.

Since launching RCCO, Brooke has worked on projects ranging from boutique retail concepts to hospitality venue fitouts and commercial spaces – work that's earned her an ABIA Award for Mediluxe in 2022 and a Polytec Design Award for Citron Bayside in 2023. She brings the same commercial understanding from her corporate background to each client brief.

"I want RCCO to feel personal," she says. "Good design should tell a story – and so should the people behind it."

Now marking five years in business, RCCO has recently completed a rebrand, with the new look launching throughout July. Brooke says she's focused on growing the studio's presence while keeping that personal approach at its core.

Anita Jakins Eyes on Business

Anita Jakins from Eyes on Business (EOB) is marking her 20th year as a consultant and bookkeeper, assisting local businesses with a friendly, farmer's daughter approach that has helped her business grow.

Though Anita has been in Brisbane for many years now, she brings a down-to-earth ethos from her Northern Territory outback roots.

She decided on accountancy as she "was good at counting cows" – and when she moved away from the farm, she could count money.

But far from a simple country practice, EOB uses sophisticated cloud solutions for finance, using software to get timely information.

Evolution in this space started in 2018, and the EOB team has been leading the way. For time-poor owners, this enhancement is golden for their business.

A boutique agency acting in a financial controller role, their support extends beyond bookkeeping to HR, payroll and BAS services, as well as training clients in accounting software (Xero and QuickBooks) and business systems and providing complimentary phone support.

Anita lives by an ethos of forming an open gate policy to business, and believes communication is the real key, no doubt the reason EOB has cultivated decades-long loyalty with clients.

Outside of her job, Anita has been a long-term contributor to the community, serving as Chair of the Tenerife Chamber of Commerce and as Treasurer of the Tenerife Festival for nine years.

Kylie Wright Ulton

Kylie Wright is Ulton's Wealth Management Partner and a trusted adviser to established families, business owners and professionals across Brisbane as well as farming families in rural and regional Queensland.

For Kylie, wealth is not just about what is built, but what it makes possible. Controlling your wealth creates choices around how time is spent, how family is supported, and how the future is shaped.

Guided by the belief that hard work deserves success, Kylie works alongside clients to bring structure, clarity and confidence to their financial decisions.

Over almost three decades, Kylie has supported clients through business sales, succession planning, intergenerational wealth transfers and significant life transitions. She also provides steady guidance through more personal moments, including divorce or the loss of a partner, helping people make clear decisions when life feels complex. Her approach is calm and considered, always aligning strategy with both financial goals and personal values.

Kylie is also known for her ability to interpret complex legislative change and translate it into practical direction. With ongoing policy shifts and legislative changes, Kylie is helping clients understand what it means for their plans and how best to respond.

At the centre of her work is a simple belief: when you understand what matters most to someone, you can build advice that supports it. Real wealth is not only created, but shaped with intention.

Kylie Wright (245052) is a Sub Authorised Representative of Ulton Wealth Pty Ltd. Corporate Authorised Representative 460875 of Ulton Wealth Services Pty Ltd AFSL 497721 ABN 86 614 308 628.

Estelle Cameron Designtank | Interior Design

Estelle Cameron is the Founder and Lead Designer of Designtank, a boutique interior design studio based in Albion, Brisbane.

With many years of experience, Estelle and her team have developed a strong understanding of renovating and decorating Queenslanders and city apartments.

Combining creativity with practical thinking and business know-how, Estelle creates stylish interiors that are also functional.

"The layout is the most important starting point," she says. "It has to work well before you even think about what it looks like. And furniture should always be part of the plan from day one."

Estelle has worked across a wide range of projects – from kitchens and bathrooms to large-scale Queensland renovations – bringing a trusted network of suppliers and trades to every job.

She works collaboratively with her clients to understand exactly how they want to live in a space, and the aesthetics and practicalities they seek to underpin everyday living.

Estelle's attention to detail ensures the design vision is carried through to completion, from bathroom fixtures to floor rugs.

After a successful career in corporate IT project management, she pursued her passion for interiors by studying Interior Technology at TAFE and launching Designtank shortly after graduating.

Estelle believes personalised service is key to the studio's success. "No two homes – or clients – are the same," she says. "That's what makes this work so rewarding."

Dr Sima Vakili – Merthyr Medical Centre (New Farm 7 Day Medical Centre)

Dr Sima Vakili is the owner of Merthyr Medical Centre (New Farm 7 Day Medical Centre), a long-standing, community-focused general practice in New Farm.

"Since 1995, the practice has been caring for generations of local families, and I feel incredibly privileged to continue that legacy," Dr Sima says.

"At the heart of my approach are three core values: putting patients first, treating everyone with respect, and providing continuity of care.

"As a GP, I believe the best healthcare comes from building long-term relationships based on trust, compassion, and open communication."

Having worked in a variety of healthcare settings over the past 14 years, Dr Sima has developed a strong interest in preventative medicine and long-term health outcomes.

"I strive to ensure every patient feels heard, respected, and supported in making informed health decisions."

As the owner of Merthyr Medical Centre (New Farm 7 Day Medical Centre), Dr Sima is committed to maintaining the high clinical standards the practice has always been known for while continuing to evolve to meet the needs of our community.

"My vision is to create a welcoming environment where patients receive personalised, high-quality care and where our doctors and staff enjoy working as a collaborative, supportive team," she says.

"I'm passionate about making healthcare accessible, consistent, and personal for individuals and families alike, and I look forward to caring for the local community for many years to come."

Hon De-Anne Kelly
BE FIE Aust

De-Anne Kelly brings a rare combination of political experience, legal expertise, and business acumen to the complex world of migration law.

De-Anne trained as an Electrical Engineer and then was elected Member for Dawson and appointed Minister Assisting the Minister for Defence and Veterans Affairs in the Howard Government. De-Anne built a distinguished record of public service. Following her political career, she studied Migration Law at Griffith University before her appointment by the Attorney General as a Member of the Administrative Appeals Tribunal.

Today, De-Anne advises businesses and individuals on the full spectrum of migration matters – from company-specific labour agreements, visa and nomination applications, to review proceedings before the Administrative Review Tribunal.

Her particular passion lies in supporting small businesses navigating the challenges of sourcing skilled workers in a competitive labour market. With the Queensland Olympic Games on the horizon, this has never been more critical. Lord Mayor Schrinner has highlighted that Brisbane alone will require an additional 2,000 skilled workers to deliver the infrastructure the Games demand.

Whether your business needs one specialist or a migration solution, De-Anne Kelly has the knowledge, connections, and experience to assist you. (MARN: 0852871).

Andrée Rice
St James College

I am the proud Principal of St James College, a Catholic Coeducational College in the heart of Brisbane. Established in 1868 and affectionately known as Jimmies, St James is an Edmund Rice school grounded in justice, compassion and opportunity for all.

We are one of Queensland's most multicultural and inclusive school communities, offering flexible learning pathways from Year 5 to Year 12, a focus on teaching for thinking, outstanding student wellbeing programs and exceptional sporting pathways.

Before coming to St James, I was Principal at Our Lady's College Annerley and at Xavier Catholic College on Bathurst Island in the Northern Territory. These diverse and rewarding years of school leadership shaped my belief that transformative school cultures are built through open communication, genuine relationship and a willingness to listen and adapt.

What I love most about St James is its joy and community. Here, difference is celebrated, individuality is embraced and every student is encouraged to reach their full potential. With enrolments doubling in four years, our reputation for being innovators in our provision of education continues to amplify.

Renowned for our blended pathways, academic excellence and strong commitment to community outreach, St James College is opening a stand-alone Junior School for Years 5 and 6 in 2027. We warmly invite families to book a Principal's Tour or submit an application via our website.

Dr Sacha DeVelle
SDV Interiors Design Studio

SDV Interiors Design Studio focuses on mid to high-end residential design, boutique shop fronts and sporting clubs.

The owner, Dr Sacha DeVelle, studied at the KLC School of Design, London, and in 2018 opened her studio based in Perth, Western Australia.

Sacha moved the business to New Farm in 2025 and hasn't looked back, having lived there 20 years ago when the kids were growing up. "I could not imagine living and working anywhere else, we love the community spirit, river views and village feel."

Sacha also has a PhD from the University of Queensland. That speciality opened up job opportunities in Uruguay, Latin America, Cambridge University in the United Kingdom, and Uganda in East Africa. She then lived and worked in London before returning to Australia.

"I've been lucky enough to live and work in some amazing places, and their unique architecture and design styles have influenced my love of modern heritage design." The studio continues to draw inspiration from Jose Ignacio, Uruguay, where barefoot luxury and sustainability drive design-led practices.

An avid tennis player and horse rider, Sacha attributes the renovation and design of sporting club projects to community involvement over the years.

The studio is accepting new projects from mid-August 2026.
